AV Programming Becomes Fully Digital

Back in 2005, AccessVision put its first DVD on the air. Since then, we have aired over 4,700 DVDs. Even though the use of VHS tapes has gradually declined, there are still a few of you using them. That will no longer be an option as of January 1st, 2010. After that, only DVDs will be accepted for airing. It has been a long time coming, but we are pleased to announce that AccessVision's programming is fully digital. If you need help converting to a DVD format, please come in and sign up for the Digital Editing class. We don't want to leave anyone behind.

With our move taking place after the first of the year, we are asking you to please have your January programs turned in as far in advance as possible. We are going to have to temporarily stop studio productions between January 17th - 31st. AccessVision plans a soft close during this time, whereas if a special event needs to be covered with a camcorder or a program needs to be edited, we will try to make the equipment available. Our goal is to begin our normal hours of operation February 1st, however this is all subject to change.

I'm excited about the move and I look forward to continuing to work with all of you.

AccessVision Programming/Office Manager
